This step shows the front section of the ship's hull being attached to the main body. The front section consists of a grey base plate with a red 2x4 plate attached to the bottom left. It features a white and black frame with two yellow 2x4 plates in the center. This section is being connected to the main hull structure, which is a long grey frame with a yellow 2x4 plate in the middle. The connection is made using black and grey Technic bricks and pins.
